

Investing in America's Future: Mentoring Researchers in Latino Health Disparities

A mentoring program by established public health faculty for junior faculty interested in research projects targeting cardiovascular disease (CVD) in Latino populations

- Two-week Summer Institute in San Diego (July 20 – August 3, 2012) with paid travel, meals, and lodging at Kona Kai Resort
- The Institute will be offering a series of trainings and mentoring activities focused on Latino health research, grant writing, and career development
- A mid-year visit by a mentor to each of mentees' research setting followed by a second one-week Institute in San Diego
- Stipend to pursue additional training and/or research

Apply online: <http://www.biostat.wustl.edu/pridecc>

Program Administrator:

Cristina Padilla, MA
9245 Sky Park Court, Suite 221
San Diego, CA 92123
619 594 2292 office
619 594 2998 fax
cpadilla@projects.sdsu.edu
<http://www.ibachsd.org/mentoringlatinoresearch>

The program is funded by the DHHS National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute.